LITERACY AND READING

RAVE-O TRAINING AND EVENTS

22 June to 4 July 2015

In collaboration with Bellavista School trainers, Dr. Stephanie Gottwald, International trainer and researcher from the Reading and Language Center, Tufts University, Boston, USA, presents RAVE-O training in South Africa this winter.

RAVE-O (reading through automaticity, vocabulary, engagement and orthography) is a fun and highly interactive program for learners and educators or therapists. Literacy is taught through the integration of spelling patterns, phonology, meaning and syntax. Learners thus develop a deep understanding of words, reading fluency and comprehension skills.

RAVE-O is an evidence based intervention for learners struggling to read in grades 2 to 7 from across socio-economic, cultural and first language backgrounds. RAVE-O has 12 years of proven success in the USA and 8 years success in our school, both as a whole class approach and in a therapy context. It is also being trialled in public mainstream, full-service and special needs schools in Gauteng.
